Dasia Black was born in 1938 in Rzeszow, Poland.

She survived Zbaraz ghetto with her parents and was then given to a Polish Catholic woman to live under a false, non-Jewish identity.

She was left orphaned when both her parents were murdered in the Holocaust. Dasia spent her infant years hiding in cellars and forests, memorising a new non-Jewish name, Stasia. She was adopted by her aunt and uncle after the war and moved to Australia in 1951.

Her second book is entitled Zbaraz: A community extinguished, which details the search for what may have happened to her parents during the Holocaust.